Overview

Overview

Here are some key points & advantages of using this new tool in POS UX:

- ❖ You can customize and adapt your F&B menus to your liking, with dishes corresponding to starters, main courses, desserts, etc.,
- ❖ Easy and quick configuration in TMS by the user.
- ❖ User friendly & very intuitive to use in POS UX.
- ❖ You can charge for example the Daily Menu with its price and add products at €0 or with a price supplement if applicable.
- ❖ You can continue sending kitchen order ticket and fire the dish as usual.

4. Complete the Item tab by extending the materials and choosing their corresponding Kitchen Group.

The screenshot displays the 'Menu Management' window. At the top, there are fields for 'Plant' (ESTF. CALET) and 'Menu ID' (8). Below these are tabs for 'Data', 'Item', and 'Dishes Group'. The 'Item' tab is active, showing a list of materials with columns for 'POS Group', 'Material', and 'Material Description'. A red box labeled 'B' highlights the 'Kitchen Group' buttons (Entrantes, Primeros, Segundos, Terceros, Cuartos, Postres, Quintos, Sextos, Soft Drinks) above the material list. A red bracket labeled 'A' points to the material list itself. A red bracket labeled 'C' points to the 'Dishes Group' table on the right, which lists the selected materials and their corresponding kitchen groups.

A) General material's database where you can extend the material you are using in your menu. The material that you extend must be exist in your outlet's database.

B) Choose the kitchen Group (Starter, First, Dessert...) to configure it in POS UX. If you want to have the same material in different kitchen groups, extend it again with the corresponding one.

C) All the materials that make up the menu and the corresponding kitchen group you have selected.

TMS configuration

5. Complete the Dishes Group tab.

The screenshot shows the 'Menu Management' interface. At the top, there's a header 'Menu Management'. Below it, there are two input fields: 'Plant' with the value 'ESTF.CALET' and 'Menu ID' with the value '8'. Below these fields, there are three tabs: 'Data', 'Item', and 'Dishes Group'. The 'Dishes Group' tab is selected. Below the tabs, there is a table with the following data:

Group.Dish	Descr.	Qty.Items	Order
1	Entrantes	6	1
3	Segundos	4	2
6	Postres	2	3

The 'Qty.Items' and 'Order' columns are highlighted with a red border.

- Qty Items: Number of dishes that make up the corresponding Kitchen Group (Starter, First, Dessert). Please note that if it is set to 2 and you want to load 3 dishes into this Kitchen group in POS UX, you will have exceeded the limit and will not be able to charge that product.
- Order: in what order the kitchen groups will appear visually in POS UX.

TMS configuration

6. Open a Jira requesting the activation of the menus in POS UX to complete the entire configuration.

Activate seating

The menu will appear with its price and below it will be a breakdown of all the selected dishes (only for the kitchen order ticket).

Once you have added all the dishes, click on the “Back” button.

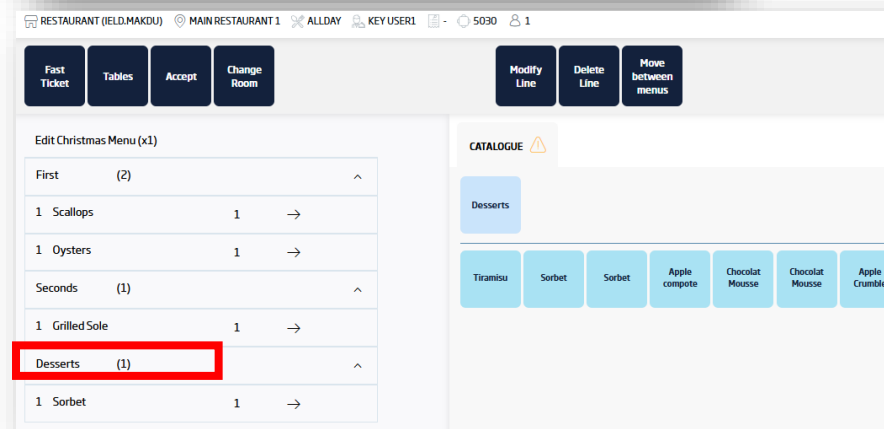

POS UX management

In case you want to edit anything, swipe and use the “Modify Line” option to open again the mask and the menu.

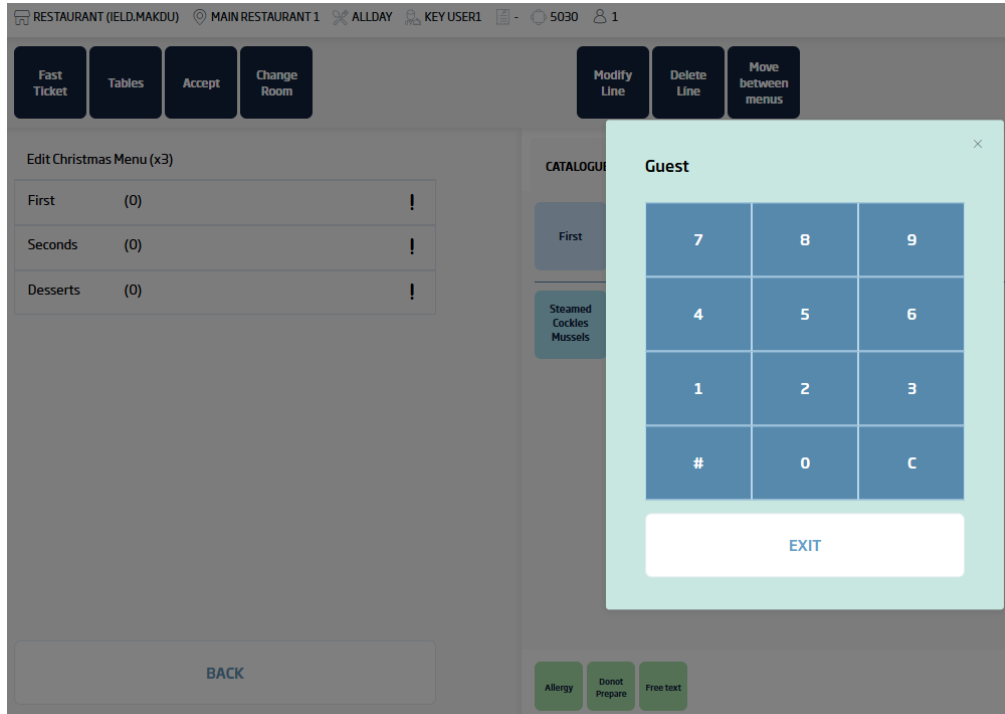

You can still editing & deleting products.

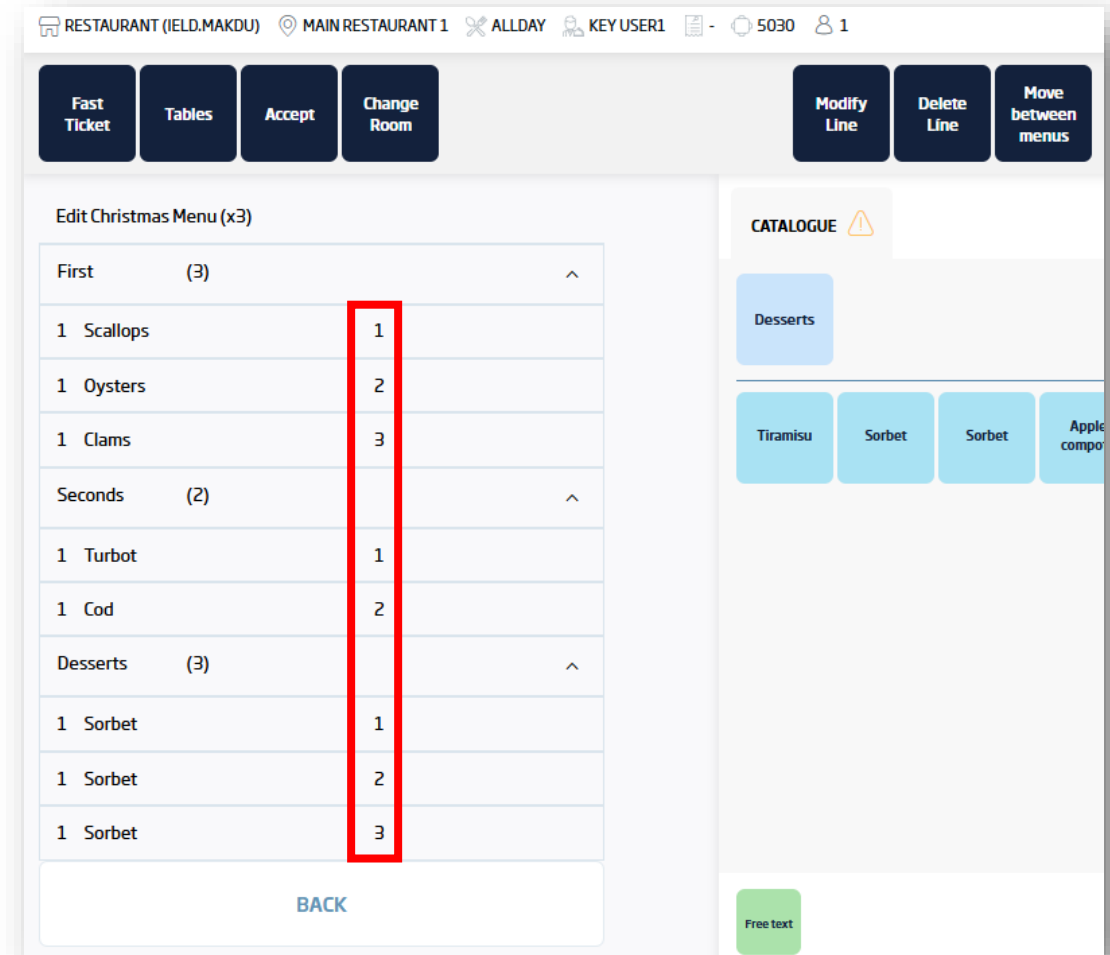

Or add more products by clicking the “Kitchen group” button and selecting the dish.

POS UX management

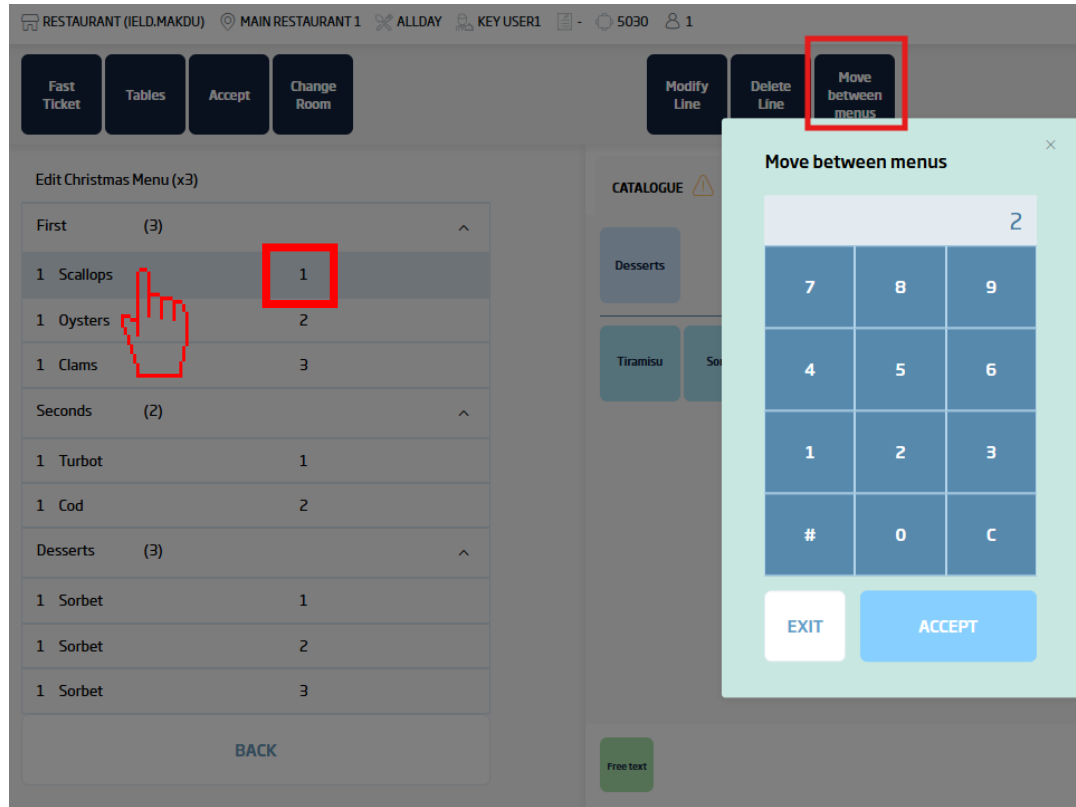

If you are managing more than 1 menu, you will need to type the cover when choosing their dishes.

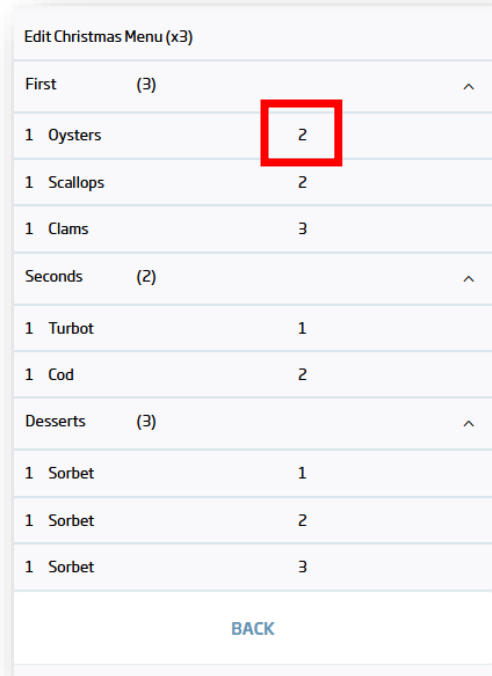

For example, menú x3 people. In this way, it will be displayed with their corresponding selection.

POS UX management

“Move Between Menus” button, will allow you to change the position of the cover/menu.
